Booth's Diary.

[From the London Times, June 6.]

The confessions of Wilkes Booth, the murderer of President Lincoln, lately published by the order or permission of the United States Government, are calculated to raise a moral question which it is important that public opinion should lay forever at rest An old heathen, doubtless, could be guilty of conscious and deliberate crime, and he also might, according to his lights, construe into a meritorious action what would strike us as a most heinous offence; but we hardly know of an instance in antiquity in which "evil was done that good might come of it" It is this notable compromise with principle, we conceive, that must be looked upon as the especial offspring of perverted Christianity. When Booth complains of the harsh judgment of his "degenerate" countrymen against him, of their blind inability to perceive the identity between his own act and that "for which Brutus was honored," he is simply a fool, for in Brutus' own estimation, and in that of his age, the death of Cæsar was a deed of "killing no murder", but when the analogy is carried on between the deed at Washington and the exploit which "made Tell a hero," we fear we cannot reject the taunt thrown into the teeth of the present generation, as wholly undeserved We never had, never can have, any scruple about dismissing Booth as a stage struck maniac, a wretched, murbid egotist, whose most appropriate, no less than most efficient punishment, should be a careful avoidance of any mention of his name, for good or evil It was, doubtless, in the most deplorable ages of rabid sectarianism that Heaven's blessings were called down upon the head of Jacques Clement, of Ravaillac, and of scores of other political homicides. It was religious frenzy that made Philip II, of Spain, the most consummate of midnight murderers, but it was not out of fanatic zeal, but of sheer unbelief, that the Jesuits armed the hands of bigots. The origin of modern political assassination must be sought in a period some what anterior to the Protestant Reformation. We must look for it among the accomplished, and, on the whole, not profligate skeptics, who, on the revival of literature, thought they could engraft Greek and Roman virtues upon the rude and gloomy rule of life on which mediæval civilization had been based, among the worldly yet lofty intellects, who dreamed of a more genial and sympathetic community than that which Francis of Assisi and Dominic of Guzman had established on groveling servitude or ferocious intolerance. In Italy, especially, where the reproduction of republican forms and terms in the free cities encouraged the spread of pagan maxims, regicide, under the specious name of tyrannicide, was exalted into the grandest achievement. Not only were such men as the slayers of Gian Maria Visconti or Pier Luigi Farnese true patriots of the most spotless fame, but even base minions like Lorenzino de Medici, when they took off a companion of debauchery like the Duke Alessandro, were deemed by that deed of dastardly treachery to have redeemed a whole life of infamy, and dared to write on their dagger

Vincit amor patriæ, laudanque immensa cupido.

Between their priestly and their literary instructions no wonder if the most crooked notions have been entertained, and to a great extent acted upon, both in Italy and in other classical and Romanist countries, but with us Protestants, with us men of Teutonic blood, we do not see why a spade should not be called a spade, or why murder should under any circumstances, be accounted heroism. Nothing should certainly deprive such beings as Charlotte Corday of any meed of praise due to their character previous to their deadly deeds, nothing should interfere with our admiration for the fortitude with which they bore the consequences; but surely, nothing, also, should extenuate the gravity of the deeds themselves, nothing should give weight to the motives or objects by which such deeds were actuated. Booth's action, by his own confession was purer than Tell's, "He (Booth) had no wrong of his own to avenge, he hoped for no gain." Woe to us if in any case, upon any ground, we allow the end to justify the means! Gossler and Murat and the Duke of Parma may have been monsters in human shape, Abraham Lincoln and Pellegrino Rossi may have been benefactors of their race, but it was not a whit more lawful to rid the earth of the former than to cut the latter short in their career of useful acts. It is this trifling with sacred principles, this halo of romantic and dramatic interest awakened in favor of virtues out of date, this perpetual relapse into Paganism, which heats the imagination of crack-brained wretches like Booth, and brings them to their deaths in uncertainty whether they deserve God and man's curses or their blessings. The cause for which Robert Lee fought and Stonewall Jackson died, might have had enough in it to stimulate exertion; but what could the death of Lincoln or even of Seward have achieved for its triumph? There is no instance on record, we can conceive of no combination, in which the removal of one man can permanently affect the course of destinies Cæsar falls, but Rome does not live "It was at the Scamptch or Morgarten, not at the Hohlweg, that Switzerland was born It was with Robespierre on the scaffold, not with Marat in the bath, that the Reign of Terror came to a close In too many instances the patriot's dagger has only riveted the chains it aspired to sever, and aggravated the evils it longed to redress Providentially, also, in some cases, it was the regicide's failure that accomplished his object, when his success would only have frustrated it

These are obvious truisms, and we are ready enough to acknowledge them in cold blood, but we are apt to forget our ethics, not only at the opera, but before any actual exhibition of those merely physical powers of endurance of which the commonest malefactor is capable Booth hoists of the firmness with which he rode sixty miles the night of the murder "with the bone of his broken leg tearing the flesh at every jump." Ravaillac was equally impassive when torn to pieces with red hot pincers There is still an incredible amount of Pagan or, indeed, red Indian materialism among the best of us We attach an absurdly undue importance to a man's mere steadiness of nerve, to his superiority over physical pain. Strong, indeed, must be our instinct of life if, by mere defiance of death, the suicide, the duellist, or the felon on the scaffold can so readily command our sympathy It is not by our disregard of life that we can best play our part, but by an endeavor to make it valuable to others no less than to ourselves

Booth's Diary.

[From the London Times, June 6.]

The confessions of Wilkes Booth, the murderer of President Lincoln, lately published by the order or permission of the United States Government, are calculated to raise a moral question which it is important that public opinion should lay forever at rest An old heathen, doubtless, could be guilty of conscious and deliberate crime, and he also might, according to his lights, construe into a meritorious action what would strike us as a most heinous offence; but we hardly know of an instance in antiquity in which "evil was done that good might come of it" It is this notable compromise with principle, we conceive, that must be looked upon as the especial offspring of perverted Christianity. When Booth complains of the harsh judgment of his "degenerate" countrymen against him, of their blind inability to perceive the identity between his own act and that "for which Brutus was honored," he is simply a fool, for in Brutus' own estimation, and in that of his age, the death of Cæsar was a deed of "killing no murder", but when the analogy is carried on between the deed at Washington and the exploit which "made Tell a hero," we fear we cannot reject the taunt thrown into the teeth of the present generation, as wholly undeserved We never had, never can have, any scruple about dismissing Booth as a stage struck maniac, a wretched, murbid egotist, whose most appropriate, no less than most efficient punishment, should be a careful avoidance of any mention of his name, for good or evil It was, doubtless, in the most deplorable ages of rabid sectarianism that Heaven's blessings were called down upon the head of Jacques Clement, of Ravaillac, and of scores of other political homicides. Aid for the Northern Railroad.

The managers of the Northern Pacific Railroad expect to get aid from the Government for the work, and this is the secret of their haste during the present summer in making surveys. Their purpose is to get reports containing calculations of the cost, observations upon the route, etc., etc., before Congress in a reliable shape, so that that body may understand that the company are thoroughly in earnest. The influence that will be brought to bear in favor of Government aid for the road will undoubtedly be strong; and without doubt also, there will be a vigorous opposition. The probability is that all who are interested in the Central route will bring the whole force of their influence against the Northern road. They will look upon the new enterprise as a dangerous rival to the old one, and will probably combine in an attempt to crush it. Of course so great influence as that of the Central road, will be able to command votes in Congress; and taking into consideration the amount of money invested, its wide distribution through the country and the magnitude of the stake to be contended for by the trans continental lines, it would not be surprising if the opponents of the Northern road should muster a formidable force in Congress against the policy of lending Government aid for the enterprise. But the friends of the Northern road are reported to be actively at work and hopeful of success. That the project has recently received a new stimulus is evidenced by the tone of a considerable portion of the Northern press. Much interest is taken in the subject in all the Northern cities from St. Paul to Boston and Portland. It is pretty evident that during the present Congress the opportunity will be more favorable for pressing the matter and obtaining the aid sought for, than will be likely to be presented again for a considerable time. The ex-States will be very certain to obtain representation in the Forty First Congress, and their votes can scarcely be expected in aid of a Northern road. Combined with the influences at work for the Central Pacific, they might succeed in defeating the new project entirely. Without aid from the Government, it would be hardly possible, for years to come, to build a railroad uniting the opposite shores of the continent. The subsidy granted by the Government for the Central Pacific is the backbone of that work, and its prospective success is owing almost wholly to the substantial aid thus given.

The Democratic newspapers are continually filled with the lowest and coarsest vituperations of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and of all men who are prominently connected with that denomination. The Democratic organ in this city, with its characteristic littleness and bigotry, takes a prominent part in this congenial work of scurrility. The occasion of it is that these revilers have ascertained that a majority of the members of this denomination hold political views antagonistic to their party. Now we know of some religious denominations whose members are, politically, almost a unit against the Republican party; yet if we should assail them on this account with as much vituperation as the Democrats assail those religious denominations whose members do not agree with them in politics, what a terrible uproar it would raise! We are not defending the Methodist; they are probably able to take care of themselves. Neither are we assailing any other denomination. We only wish to show how prone Democrats are to deny to others the same privileges they claim for themselves. Let any other person say a word against a religious sect, and they cry out "persecution" and "intolerance;" but they themselves belong and revile religious denominations without limit, for political reasons alone. Their hatred and defamation of some of the best men and best religious organizations of the country reminds us of the celebrated John Leech's caricature of two jail birds consulting over city affairs. "Hey, Bill, what do you think of the present policy, I think they are a bad lot, and ought to be hung away with altogether."

Political Amenities.—The Herald has frequently published editorial articles harangching all men to lay aside partisanship and restore at once the "era of good feeling." It has predicted repeatedly that the political millennium was just at hand and that all animosity, growing out of politics, would soon be at an end. To show how earnest it is in the work of conciliation, and how largely it is contributing to the result it has promised, we present some choice remarks from that paper of yesterday. It applies to its political opponents soft terms like these:

A lot of traitors who deserve the gallows, have overturned the liberties of the country, trampled upon the Constitution, and established a despotism in the Republic.

They would prostitute religion, morality, female purity, and the sanctity of the marriage relation to party success.

The best of them will lie, cheat and co-operate with the lewd and vicious in partisan knavery.

The individual who writes in this elegant manner sets himself up as a public instructor, a pattern of decency, assumes to be very "high-toned," and often pretends that his sensibilities are shocked by the "low vulgarity" of others. We prefer not to describe him as he is, having no wish to soil our paper with such a subject.

The editor of the New Orleans Times, the paper which denounced General Sheridan for "insubordination" and demanded his removal, and from which the Oregon Herald took the idea of abusing the gallant General, is a man named W. H. C. King, once known in Pittsburg, says the Commercial of that city, as "Bill Buckhouse." This individual murdered in cold blood not long ago a citizen of Pittsburg named Arthur Magill, while the latter was temporarily employed in New Orleans. As King has always been a violent rebel, and as he has the blood of a loyal man on his hands, he is of course greatly admired by the haters of General Sheridan. Such as he are always competent Democratic witnesses against Union men.

What has come over the Democracy that it has ceased its adulation of Andrew Johnson? One may now look in vain through the papers which were wont to laud him so highly to see him mentioned with respect or even mentioned at all. It is very clear that this disappointed party would have done well to heed the caution given by O'Meara when Johnson first separated from the Union party. When the Freedmen's Bureau Bill was vetoed and the Democracy were everywhere clearing their throats to hurrah for the "second Jackson," Mr. O'Meara profoundly remarked that 'one swallow didn't make a summer,' and advised his friends to let their enthusiasm wait on their judgment awhile longer. Sage advice, but unhappily it was unheeded.

It has been discovered that the only sure way for a man to obtain a consideration for his vote is to vote for himself. This discovery has been made by an individual who has tried voting for others and found it didn't pay. He will therefore hereafter vote for himself only. "Political science" is certainly progressive.

The Democratic papers are still laboring with unremitting assiduity to remove from their chief, Jefferson Davis, the disgrace of having been captured in his wife's petticoats. A lengthy article on the subject appeared in the Herald a day or two ago. The sensitiveness of these papers for the "honor" of their chief is easily accounted for.

Rev. Mr. Earle left California for the East by the steamer of the 19th of July

Freedmen's Union Commission.

The "American Freedmen's Union Commission" is an organization which has its head office in New York city, with branch offices in the principal cities of the Union. Its object is "the relief of the freedmen of the United States, and to aid and co operate with the people of the South, without distinction of color, in the improvement of their condition upon the basis of industry, education, freedom and Christian morality." Its agent for the Pacific coast is Rev. D. C. Haynes, D. D., who came from the East to San Francisco last spring. This gentleman is now in Portland, and we learn that he will spend about two months in Oregon, visiting different portions of the State for the purpose of laying the subject before the people. The organization is "irrespective of denominational distinctions, embracing nearly the unecclesiastical societies of the North in a national organization, which have labored in this work from the beginning, including among its native officers and directors such men as Chief Justice Chase, Dr. Robert Patterson, Dr. Joseph P. Thompson, Dr. George Duffield, Hon. John A. Andrew, and a score of others whose names are the sufficient guarantee of the faithful administration of its duties."

Dr. Haynes bears the following recommendations, which we give for the purpose of introducing him more fully to the people of the State:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8, 1867.

"I take pleasure in commending the Rev. D. C. Haynes, D. D., to those friends of Christian civilization, in the Pacific States, who may think my commendation entitled to consideration.

"Dr. Haynes has been appointed to represent the Freedmen's Union Commission in an Agency on the Pacific coast. He is held in high respect by those who know him as a man of ability, integrity and devotion to the cause and work which he represents.

"Hardly anything now seems worthier of support of Christians and Patriots than the work of education among the Freedmen and the poor of all colors in the South; whether regarded in its relations to the Union, to Restoration, to Renovation, or to permanent Peace and Prosperity."

S. P. CHASE.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9, 1867.

REV. D. C. HAYNES,

"MY DEAR SIR:—I have just heard from my friend, Mr. McKim, Secretary of the American Freedman's Union Commission, that you have consented to visit the Pacific coast, as its Secretary in that region. I bid you good speed in your labors of humanity in that region of the Republic, where you will find so many large and generous hearts; and I commend you cordially to to their regard, not only for your own personal worth, but for the cause for which you will plead."

Yours, truly,
SCHUYLER COLFAX.

WAR DEPARTMENT, BUREAU REF.,
FREEDMEN AND ABANDONED LANDS,
WASHINGTON, March 26, 1867.

To whom it may concern:

"The bearer of this is a worthy Christian gentleman who is desirous of collecting funds in aid of the work of the American Freedmen's Union Commission.

"This Association is extensively engaged in sustaining schools among the freedmen.

"Their schools are of an excellent character. We are still dependant for this important work, in a great measure, upon the voluntary contributions of our people.

"The Government gives aid for certain things, but the work of sustaining the teachers is left to different benevolent associations. I believe Mr. Haynes to be particularly worthy of confidence, and take great pleasure in commending him to the attention of those who love to give to worthy and benevolent objects.

O. O. HOWARD,
Major-General, Commissioner."

THE GRADUATING CLASS AT WEST POINT.—A statement has been going the rounds of the press, finding its way into some of the Oregon papers, to the effect that the highest honors of the late graduating class at West Point were borne off by the young men from the Southern States, and that the Northern graduates were left far behind. The New York Herald of June 7th notices this erroneous statement, and at the desire of the graduating class gives publicity to the following card:

WEST POINT, June 5, 1867.

There is a short article in a New York paper of this date casting reflection upon the ability of Northern youth, stating that of the honors of the class of '67 nearly all have been won by young men from the South. This paper seems to ignore or be unaware of the fact that, when the present graduates were appointed in '63, there were a large number of appointments at the Military Academy left vacant in the seceded States. These vacancies were filled by the President mostly from the ranks of the army, by men who were of Northern birth and Northern education. Of the few from the South, all have the most loyal antecedents. Of those particularly mentioned, Ruffner, appointed from Virginia, is a native of that State, but of that loyal portion west of the Blue Ridge; Mallery, Rogers and Haupt are natives of Pennsylvania; Sears is from Ohio; Griffith's home is in Ohio, and Pitman's in Rhode Island; Bell and Maguire are from Tennessee. It will be no strange story to those who know the academy to hear that sectionalism is unknown and merit alone secures academic distinction at West Point.

"Brick" Pomeroy is a great man among the Democracy. He is just the sort of man to be the mentor of the refugees of Price's army who lately called the Convention in Eastern Oregon which was captured and muzzled by the "Conservatives." In a late number of his paper we find the following good Democratic doctrine and argument:

Grant does not desire the Presidency! Wonderful Grant! Wouldn't have it, we suppose, on any consideration! Self-denying Grant! Wants it extended to Sherman, the pillaging, robbing, murdering, ravishing, burning Attila of Federal vengeance! Generous Grant! Yields Grant to Sherman—William Tecumseh Sherman,—whose march with torch and bummers "from Atlanta to the sea," has made his name infamous and accursed forever! Oh, most excellent and modest Ulysses, in the name of Tecumseh, of the Grand Army of the Rump, of all the thieves, traitors, disunionists, and "loyal" of the country, you should be thanked!

The paper that spews out its venom in this style has a circulation of 60,000 copies. It expresses the real sentiments of nine-tenths of its party. Even the "Conservatives" who advocated moderation in the Umatilla Convention agree precisely, in their secret sentiments, with Brick Pomeroy.

GENERAL SICKLES' LETTER OF RESIGNATION.—General Sickles' letter, asking to be relieved from the command of the Second Military District, is as follows:

HEADQUARTERS 2D MILITARY DISTRICT,
Charleston, S. C., June 19th, 1867

To the Adjutant-General of the Army, War Department, Washington, D. C.: I have the honor to request that I may be relieved from command in this Military District, and I respectfully demand a Court of Inquiry upon my official actions, that I may vindicate myself from the accusations of the Attorney-General, published, it is presumed with the approval of the President. Congress having declared those so called State Governments illegal, the declaration of the Attorney General that military authority has not superseded them, prevents the execution of the Reconstruction Acts, disarms me of means to protect life, property, or the rights of citizens, and renounces all interests in those States with ruin. D. E. SICKLES.
Major General Commanding.

Official: J. W. CLOUS, Captain A. A. A. G.

The Democrats of Montana have nominated James M. Cavanaugh as their candidate for delegate to Congress. The contest for the nomination was a protracted one. The issue on which they make the fight is opposition to equal suffrage in the Territories. Have they forgotten so soon the lesson their party received in Washington Territory?

In the late Democratic Convention of Pennsylvania a delegate offered a resolution complimenting General Sheridan for his bold discharge of duty in Louisiana. The resolution was spitefully rejected. When was a resolution complimenting our heroes ever treated otherwise than with contempt in a Democratic Convention?

The old adage says: "Set a rogue to catch a rogue," Some people have been graceless enough to cite this old saw in justification of a certain recent appointment to office.

REDDING'S

RUSSIA SALVE!

[ESTABLISHED 1856.]

Price 25Cents per Box.

Is the Universal Remedy for

BURNS, SCALDS, CUTS, BRUISES, and all FLESH WOUNDS; for CHILBLAINS, CHAPPED HANDS, PILES and OLD SCROFULOUS SORES; ERUPTIONS, BLOTCHES, SALT RHEUM, and all CUTANEOU DISEASES.

REDDING'S RUSSIA SALVE is a purely Vegetable Ointment, made from the very best materials, and combines in itself greater HEALING POWERS than any other preparation before the public. Its timely application has been the means of saving thousands of valuable lives, of relieving a vast amount of suffering, and wherever used has proved itself in reality A BOON TO SUFFERING HUMANITY.

SIXTY YEARS' GENERAL USE OF THE RUSSIA SALVE IS A NOBLE GUARANTEE OF ITS INCOMPARABLE VIRTUES AS A HEALING OINTMENT.

The very large sale of REDDING'S RUSSIA SALVE, during the past sixty years, has given rise to hundreds of unworthy imitations, but throughout all opposition, the RUSSIA SALVE maintains its supremacy as a reliable preparation, having a steady and permanent sale, and never deteriorating in quality, by age or climate, and is sold to dealers at a price enabling them to realize a generous profit by its sale.

For sale by all Druggists and Apothecaries.

IN RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF BISHOP SCOTT.—At the session of the State Teachers' Institute on Thursday, August 1st, the following resolutions were reported by the committee appointed for that purpose, and were adopted by an unanimous vote

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God our Heavenly Father in his wise and mysterious providence to remove from our midst by death the Right Reverend Bishop Scott, D D, for many years a beloved member of this Institute, therefore

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to the wise and sovereign will of God in this afflictive dispensation of his providence, and devoutly recognize his gracious hand in this solemn event

Resolved, That we record our grateful recognition of his great consecration to the work of Christ and the service of his people. As a pastor he was constant and unwearied in his labor amongst all his people, by whom he most ardently loved, and we hereby offer them our hearty sympathy in the hour of deep sorrow

Resolved, That we record our high esteem for the deceased as an able, faithful and useful member of this body; our testimony to his exemplary life, great purity of character and laborious personal efforts to advance the great cause of education, believing as he did that the only safeguard to morality is to impress the grand principles of the New Testament upon the minds of the young

Resolved, That we express our affectionate sympathy and condolence with the bereaved widow of the deceased, and trust that the sustaining grace of God may be vouchsafed unto her in the hour of her more bereavement

Resolved, That this report be made a permanent record on our minutes, as a memorial and testimony of respect, that a copy be furnished for publication in the papers of this city, and that our Recording Secretary be directed to communicate a copy to the bereaved family of the deceased.

A METEOR.—Last Wednesday evening, a little before nine o'clock, an unusually brilliant meteor was seen to traverse the northern heavens and explode near the north-eastern horizon. When first seen, it was a few degrees north of east and about twenty degrees in height. From this point it moved slowly across to the northwest, attaining a somewhat greater elevation and then declining to perhaps, ten or fifteen degrees above the horizon at which height it exploded, scattering a shower of brilliant sparks which appeared to descend toward the earth When seen here, it had the appearance of being two balls of fire—one larger than the other—connected somewhat like the two balls of a dumb-bell It moved so slowly that persons in the street had time to run into the house and call out others to see it. Capt. Korn, of the Grant, informs us that it was seen at Astoria—the time being the same. It appeared, as it did here, to be near The course traversed is described as the same in both places When first seen from Astoria, it was apparently a large ball of fire, followed closely by a small one The explosion took place in the northeast The shower of sparks is described as exceedingly brilliant and as presenting all the rainbow colors, When the larger ball exploded the smaller one disappeared along with the falling shower of fire. No noise was heard in either place, from which, and the other circumstances noted, it is concluded that the appearance of nearness was altogether illusive and that, in reality, it was very distant The evening was the warmest one experienced here this season. At a later hour, from about eleven o'clock to one o'clock of Thursday morning, a heavy black cloud hung on the eastern and northeastern horizon; from which, or from under below which, vivid flashes of light were seen to radiate, not like an ordinary flash of lightning, but rather like the light from an explosion below the horizon, unaccompanied by noise.

A STATE NORMAL UNIVERSITY.—The State Teachers' Institute, on Thursday, adopted a resolution in favor of efforts for the establishment of a State Normal University. It is extremely doubtful if any State aid can be obtained, either now or for years; and yet the Legislature could scarcely do anything promotive of education which would have so great practical results as the establishment of a school for teachers. The country is blessed with a few good teachers and cursed with many bad ones—bad because they were bad born teachers and have never been taught how to teach. But if the Legislature will not do anything in that direction, teachers themselves, and friends of education can do what is now necessary, by volunteer efforts. Had the Teachers' Institute been modeled on the plan of a normal school, with provision for annual session of six weeks or two months, with a corps of paid Professors, the practical benefits of a Normal University would have been secured. This matter was talked of when the Institute was organized, but was defeated through the ill-advised opposition of professors of the then organized colleges, universities and academies. There were teachers present who felt the need of such an institution and urged the resolution to direct its efforts toward its establishment. There would be no difficulty in doing it, as the nucleus of the p...s now might be secured by tuition fees. All the teachers who earnestly desire to be thoroughly fitted for teaching would willingly pay the tuition, and those who would not be willing to pay liberally for being qualified have no business in the profession and the sooner they are crowded out of it the better. The Institute has, in this matter, struck the right vein and we hope the earnest members of it will pursue it to the consummation of the scheme.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—The Register furnishes the following: Marshal Brady yesterday arrested several soldiers who had just arrived from San Francisco, who were caught stealing in the Vancouver House They were handed over to the tender mercies of Mr. Justice Smith to be dealt with according to law .....Fred. Bateman, a bright young lad some 15 years of age, was thrown off by a wild horse on Wednesday last, while riding the animal on the race course. The fall was a heavy and sudden one and caused the breaking of his collar bone..... The Vancouver Seminary Association have purchased upon favorable terms from S. C. Achilles, four acres of land, adjoining the town site upon which a building of 32x60 feet will be erected immediately. The contract for building the same has been let to Mr S B. Mason, who is to have the same completed by the 16th of September next. The Association has very encouraging prospects of success ... On the 15th of this month another match game will be played between the Centennial and Clackamas Base Ball Clubs. The result of this game will decide the championship between these two Clubs The Fannie Troup on that day will make an excursion to Oregon City, taking on board the Post Band, who will enliven the occasion with music. Capt. Turnbull has liberally offered to carry the "First Nine" free of charge ..... An irrepressible conflict which has been waged for some time past in one of the Good Templar Lodges in this city culminated one evening last week in the presentation of an ordinance of ex...sion, signed by a number of members, wherein they declared their intention to withdraw and renounced their allegiance to the Lodge The alleged cause of the ...ession was the refusal of the Lodge to pass or entertain a resolution, pledging the members of the Lodge not to vote at political elections for men of intemperate habits.

MT. HOOD.—The California Newspaper "fellers" are having another bad spell about the light of Mt. Hood. Hear the Alta:

Professor Whitney, of the State Geological Corps, has just returned from a trip to Washington and Oregon. He reports that he ascended Mt. Hood and took careful barometrical observations, and found the light of the mountain lost not exceed 14,000 feet. He does not know the precise height, as he had not time to calculate all of his observations. Thus one humbug is effectually exploded It will be recollected that a great stir was made a year ago, when it was announced that a traveler from the East had ascended Mt. Hood and proved its light to be 17,500 feet. He enjoyed the glory for a few months, and it is now time for him to hide his diminished head, his glory and his few extra thousand feet given to Hood have ...ished together.

This opinion of Prof. Whitney will have a stunning effect on Mt. Hood. To be called a "humbug" is too much for even a mountain to bear tamely. It will be wonderful old mole hill does not explode when it hears Professor Whitney's report and the Alta's cackle. But really, when did Prof. Whitney ascend Mt. Hood? Nobody here has heard of the circumstance

FOR THE POOR OF THE SOUTH.—During the next week there will be a series of Union meetings in Portland for the poor of the South without distinction of color Rev Dr. Haynes, Secretary of the American Freedmen's Union Commission, just arrived in Oregon from the East, will address the people of Portland on the great questions of the poor of the South, Sunday evening, August 4th, at the Presbyterian church. The subject will be the religious and the charitable aspects of the case Monday evening, August 5th, the meeting will be in the Court houses, and the subject will be the political and patriotic aspects of the case. Senator Corbett will preside and it is expected that Senator Williams will speak. Rev Dr Atkinson, Rev Dr. Anderson, Rev. Mr Monteith will also participate in the meetings The work is unpartisan and undenominational and the citizens of Portland will give the cause a cordial welcome Rev Dr Haynes has been connected with this work from the commencement of the war, and has presented it in the Eastern States and Europe and California He comes now direct from the South and is prepared to fully represent this important cause

MILITARY.—The transportation of Capt. Kelly's company and outfit has been completed and the force now occupies a camp on the east bank of the Willamette, about one mile above Oswego. The Captain's command consists of Co. "C," 8th U. S Cavalry, and about forty citizen employes, with two hundred pack animals. He will march to-day or Monday for Fort Warner by way of Eugene City, Fort Klamath, Sprague river and Goose Creek He is directed, on his arrival, to report to Gen Crook Lt Wm McCreve, 8th Cavalry, is the A A Q. M and A. C S of the expedition. We learn from the Register that Capt Earhart has succeeded Capt Kelly in the command of Fort Vancouver ..... Dr. Tobey's services as an A A Surgeon in the Army have recently been engaged and he left this place on Monday for Camp Wright, Oregon, where he will be stationed for the present.

A DESPERADO CAUGHT.—The man L G Lander, alias "Wild Yank," who badly wounded two men in Washington ...last week, was caught yesterday by John Collins and Samuel Wilkes, of Columbia county, at a point about six miles above Rainier, and brought to this city last evening on board the Ranger. He attempted to escape and fight when arrested, and was shot twice One leg was broken and a ball was lodged in his groin He was in a decidedly pitiable condition when he arrived here. The Sheriff of Washington county had offered a reward of $50 for his capture.

FROM THE LOWER COLUMBIA.—Capt. Horne of the Grant informs us that the fishing season on the Lower Columbia has closed. About 3,000 bbls of Salmon have been put up at Clatsop, opposite Astoria ..... Rich discoveries have been made on the north side of the bay, of coal, silver and ...pper, and there is great excitement over it. The locality is a little west of the lodge of cement which lately had ...ston.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Senator, from Oregon City yesterday, August 2d. 8 bales wool, 114 boxes fruit, 10 bales woolen goods, 2 bales sacks, 224 ...ake feed.

IMPORTING AGAIN.—While the Oregon City paper mill was in operation, the consumption of Eastern manufactured wrapping paper was very sensibly diminished in this city, the merchants mostly using the domestic article Since the mill stopped, the stock of its paper on hand has rapidly become exhausted and dealers are again importing eastern manufacture A considerable quantity came on the Orifiamme We hope to see this leak again stopped, by resumption of work at the Oregon City mill

MATCH GAME TO-DAY.—The match game between the Eclipse and the Athletic clubs will be played to-day at two o'clock, on the Pioneer grounds The president of the Eclipse Club, Edwin Wilcox, desires us to say that the "first nine" are expected to meet at half past twelve P M., on their own grounds, for the transaction of business.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Yesterday morning, Ah Chung was fined $5 for indecent exposure of his person, by bathing in the river near the ferry landing Failing to pay, he was sent to jail for six days

Wm Sweeney, charged with being drunk and disorderly, forfeited his bail, by non-appearance.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Rev D C Haynes, D D, who arrived from San Francisco by the last steamer, will deliver a lecture at the M E Church, on Monday evening, on the subject of Temperance. Dr Haynes is the Secretary of the Branch at San Francisco, of the American Freedmen's Union Commission.

FIRE BELL.—Among other freights by the last steamer, is a fire bell to E J Northrup & Co, for Vigilance Hook & Ladder Company, No 1 It is a very fine toned bell weighing 340 pounds, and cost including freight, $250 The Hook & Ladder Co will be heard from, hereafter, on the occurrence of a fire alarm

CIRCUIT COURT.—In our report of the Circuit Court proceedings for Thursday, the following case was omitted by accident E G Adams vs H C. Victor; suit for damages done to plaintiff's house; defendant submitted to judgment in favor of plaintiff, in the sum of $176 and costs

The Growth of Idaho.

We extract the following from an editorial article published in the Idaho Statesman of the 27th ult:

Our mines are as good, yes, many of them are far better, than was dreamed of three years ago, but there has been less capital and labor and intelligence expended in making them productive than we hoped to see. During these three years some important changes have taken place in Idaho. Like all placer mines ours are beginning to show signs of wearing out. There is consequently the same periodical "rush" in the spring there was then. Nearly all the loose and migratory population has drifted away and left the country possessed only of permanent settlers. Then every article of consumption was brought from Oregon or California; now the valleys produce enough for home consumption. The price of oats and barley has been reduced from eighteen and twenty cents per pound to three, and all other farm produce in proportion. The price of lumber is reduced from one hundred dollars per thousand feet to forty dollars, and the cost of living more than half. Boise City from being no place at all has grown to be the most important, to the Territory, and will soon number the largest population. Six lines of stages in four different routes arrive and depart each day and every other day, and one if not two more will shortly be added to the number. Wells, Fargo & Co. dispatch daily their express in four directions and thirty different U. S. mails arrive and depart each week. It has hardly become the central point of business, and more improvements are now going on than at any previous time. Three years ago the Boise and Payette valleys were just settled by the first squatters that took possession. The Boise valley is now almost one continuous field of grain for sixty miles in length on both sides of the river, dotted every now and then with orchards just beginning to bear their first specimen fruits. The capabilities of soil and climate have been so far tested as to establish our independence of foreign produce in the future. A few companies have failed in mining, but not until they had developed and established the fact that it is useless to seek elsewhere for richer mines, while many more are slowly opening their mines and surely laying the foundation for fortunes. All things considered, Idaho Territory was never at any time so really prosperous as at the present time. The general decline of business consequent upon the wearing out of the placer mines, was looked for by every sensible man; but the growth of quartz interests has not equaled expectations.

THE WHEAT CROP.—The returns for the month of June to the Agricultural Department, from all the States, show that the total number of acres in wheat is ten to fifteen per cent. greater than last year. The amount of winter wheat sown is equal to that of last year, while that of spring wheat is much greater. There is quite a falling off in the quantity of winter wheat sown in Ohio, Indiana, Kansas and Texas, while a large increase is indicated in Virginia, Georgia, Arkansas and Tennessee, and the South generally. The following States show a large increase in the number of acres of spring wheat sown: Ohio 37 per cent., Indiana 48, Illinois 25, Minnesota 35, Wisconsin 15, Michigan 10, Missouri 31, Iowa 28, Kansas 30, Nebraska 90 The indications of improvement in the coming crop upon that of last year, are about as follows: In Indiana it is 75 per cent. better than last year; Illinois 15, Minnesota 7, Wisconsin 22, Michigan 30, Ohio 160, Missouri 31, Kentucky 53, Virginia 100, North Carolina 40, and Tennessee 63 per cent.; all the other States making a favorable comparison with last year. With ordinary success in the maturing of the grain and saving the crop, the yield this year cannot be much short of 200,000,000 bushels.

RELATIVE CORRUPTIBILITY OF REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS.—The New York Tribune states that while one-half of the Republican members of the State Legislature have kept clear of all job bery and spurned every suggestion that might put money into their pockets by voting for thieving bills, "at least three fourths of all the Democrats in both Houses have been bought and sold at least a dozen times by the magnates of the lobby, and will take home the wages of their own perfidy and prostitution to the average amount of at least $2,000 each. But for Governor Fenton's vetoes, the swag would have been swelled to at least $5,000 each." Some of the members of the influential, high priced sort, bagged and carried away as much as $10,000 a piece There were fewer Democrats than Republicans, but they yielded double the per cent. of venality and rascality to a given number. The Chicago Tribune says it was the same in the Illinois Legislature, only more so. It cost more to purchase one Republican vote than three Copperhead votes, on an average. The lobby had to go after Republican members, but the Copperheads went in search of the lobby.

MR GEORGE P MELVIN, manufacturer of linen collars, 623 Greenwich street, New York, states that he prefers the Grover & Baker Machine in his business, because it makes a better and neater stitch than other machines; that the stitch is more durable on account of its elasticity, and the machine works more rapidly He also prefers the Grover & Baker for family use, because it is less liable to get out of order, causes less trouble, and is easier to learn W Currier & Co., agents, 103 Front street, Portland

A UNIVERSAL REMEDY.—"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" for Coughs, Colds, and Bronchial Affections, now stands the first in public favor and confidence; this result has been acquired by a test of many years Its merits and extensive use have caused the Troches to be counterfeited and we would caution purchasers to be on their guard against worthless imitations

IF THE BABY IS CUTTING TEETH, use that old and well tried remedy, MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, which greatly facilitates the process, and is sure to regulate the bowels. It relieves the child from pain, corrects acidity and wind colic, and, by giving the infant quiet, natural sleep, gives rest to the mother. We hear from Washington and Yamhill counties that the recent rains have greatly benefitted the late sown crops In some places, however, hay has been lost by the continued rains.

The bridge which for some time has been in process of erection over the Tualatin, between Hillsboro and Forest Grove, is now said to be approaching completion This bridge is a fine structure, and was greatly needed It reaches from bluff to bluff, and is several hundred yards in length.

An editor at Salem says that the editor of a certain well known and highly esteemed weekly paper of this city "has shown considerable talent in his editorial capacity." The Salem editor no doubt speaks from positive knowledge of the Portland editor's qualifications, as on a certain occasion the former was only saved by a precipitate retreat from being helped out of the latter's office by the vigorous application of a pair of apostolical boots

PERFECTLY ENBALMING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W. T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which come from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like those? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments

Till We Shall Meet.

Of all the poems breathing conjugal love that I ever have read in history over—love which even the strong verses failed to interpret—of all such poems written in any age that witness sacred devotion that may before or since this inspired one, I commend to the Bishop of Chichester with his married wife to be the most elegant and beautiful

Sleep on, my love, in thy cold bed,
Never to be disquieted!
My last good night! Thou wilt not wake
Till I thy fate shall overtake:
Till age, or grief, or sickness must
Marry my body to that dust
It so much loves; and fill the room
My heart keeps empty in the tomb.
Stay for me there; I will not fail
To meet thee in that hollow vale.
And think not much of my delay;
I am already on the way,
And follow thee with all the speed
Desire can make, or sorrow breed.
Each minute is a short degree,
And every hour a step toward thee—
At night when I betake to rest,
Next morn I rise nearer my west
Of life, almost by eight hours sail,
Than when sleep breathed his drowsy gale.
* * * * *
But hark! my pulse, like a soft drum,
Beats my approach, tells thee I come,
And slow how'er my marches be
I shall at last sit down by thee,
The thought of this bids me go on,
And wait my dissolution,
With hope and comfort. Dear, (forgive
The crime), I am content to live
Divided, with but half a heart,
Till we meet and never part."

CARPETS—A REVOLUTION IN THE TRADE.—Among the numerous ways in which the present stagnation of business and inflation of prices have manifested themselves, in the absence of many of the conveniences of life. The effect is particularly noticeable in respect to carpetings The time was when a person of moderate means could afford to ornament his house with the best that the market afforded, whether of foreign or domestic manufacture. But the combination of a decrease in earnings and increase in the price of the raw and manufactured material has created a marked change in this respect. Those who will count their increases by the thousands can, of course, afford to renew all the furnishings of their houses, as fast and as often as is necessary, but with the great working class the case is far different, and many families in these trying days are forced necessarily to return to the primitive fashion of bare floors, which prevailed in ancient times.

"Anything, therefore, which promises a change in this respect should be welcomed by the public in no hesitating way. We have a fair promise that such will be the case with the fabrics manufactured by the Vienna Carpet Manufacturing Company, whose works are located at the corner of Vienna and Memphis street in this city. The process pursued by them is peculiar and novel, and has been secured from infringement by letters patent. The material used by them is the common burlap cloth, which is closely and substantially woven. When transformed from its rough state into a plain cloth, it is printed with metallic colors of neat and varied hues and designs. These are impressed so durably upon the material that they cannot be affected by the rays of the sun, or by any other ordinary circumstances, thus retaining the freshness of their appearance longer than is usual. In addition to this merit, which in itself is a great recommendation, the material of which the carpets are composed will preserve its texture firm, under constant wear and tear, for a period four times as long as ordinary carpets.

The cheapness of burlap cloth, and the improved process of manufacture, enable the Vienna Company to dispose of their products at a rate much lower than those at present ruling in the market. For 75 cents per yard they can sell an article which will wear better, and is in every respect superior to the ordinary carpetings which are now held at $2 50 a yard. This is a fact of great importance to house-keepers, and it is only necessary for them to realize it, to engage an entire revolution in the carpet trade. To convince a skeptic of the decided merits of this new article of manufacture, an examination of the material in question is all that is needed. The result will be its gradual adoption by all those who follow the time honored principles of economy, and we may anticipate but a short time will elapse before the Burlap Carpets will be found in general and satisfactory use.—Philadelphia paper.

A MOTHER'S GRAVE.—There is a tender pathos in the following from the North-Bridge Mail. It suggests the sad thought that many a home is made utterly desolate by a mother's death, and that the children are often ruined by the loss of her comforting and restraining love:

Some gentlemen passing through the beautiful village of Renton, in the Vale of Leven, Cumberconshire, about nine o'clock at night, some time ago, had their attention directed toward a dark object in a churchyard. On going to ascertain what it was, they found a boy of tender years lying flat on his face, and apparently fast asleep newly made grave. Thinking this not a [illegible] He said he was afraid to go [illegible] with whom he resided, had [illegible] beat him. "And whose does your [illegible] was the answer. "In Dunbarton—nearly [illegible] How came you to wander so [illegible] away from home?" "I just came," sobbed [illegible] fellow, "to my mother's grave [illegible]

His mother had been buried there a short time before, and seeking a refuge at her grave in his [illegible] was a beautiful touch of nature in a child [illegible] and scarcely have yet learned to realize the [illegible] character of that separation, which knows of no reunion on earth." Thither had he instinctively wandered to sob out his sorrows, and to moisten with tears the grave of one who had hitherto been his natural protector, for he had evidently cried himself to sleep.

GRANT IN A QUANDARY.—General Grant presented the diplomas to the graduating class at West Point. The following scene occurred, according to the correspondent of the New York Times:

Moving somewhat nervously in his camp stool, General Grant watched the corps until Major Boynton approached and the following dialogue took place:

Major Boynton.—Will the General present the diplomas first?

General Grant.—Yes, but where are they?

Major Boynton.—Here they are, sir.

General Grant.—How many?

Major Boynton.—Sixty three.

General Grant.—Shall I have to say something to every one?

Dr. Vinton.—Yes Sixty-three speeches.

The first named, Ruffner, was called, and when the cadet presented himself the General said "I am very glad to know that you are a smart boy, and at the head of your class. Pay attention to your studies and there is no goal you may not hope to reach in this country." The rest of the diplomas were presented to the cadets in the order of graduation, the General bowing courteously to each as he gave the coveted parchment. Then the band played, in splendid time and with fine effect the "Soldiers' March," from Faust, while the people gathered near to listen to the music.

DEATH OF A BRAVE OLD SOLDIER.—The Boston papers announce the death, at Bradford Mass., of Lieut John Mills, United States Army, at the age of 77. The deceased entered the service when a lad of 18 years (1808), making him the oldest soldier in the service. He served under General Harrison at the battle of Tippecanoe, in 1811, and was among the prisoners captured by the British General Brock, in 1812. Lieut Mills also participated in the Florida war in 1835-7, and throughout the entire Mexican campaigns. At the outbreak of the rebellion he was Fife Major in the First Infantry, then stationed in Texas. Perceiving that General Twiggs intended to surrender the forces in that State, the deceased, with two companies of his regiment, made their escape, and arrived safely in Washington. In 1865 he was retired from the service, with the rank and pay of a Lieutenant in the regular service, and from that time resided in Bradford.

A girl 13 years old hung herself at Peoria, Ill., recently, because her mother had bought her elder sister a pair of corsets, but none for her. She would not go to Sunday school in the morning, and when her mother told her to dress herself, she went out into a smoke house, took a horse's halter, and slipping the hitching strap through the head strap, made a sort of running noose, through which she put her neck. She then hitched the strap to a peg in the wall. When found, she was hanging by the neck, the peg only a foot above her head, and her feet on the floor. Though cut down immediately, she was dead, and all attempts to revive her proved fruitless.

George, do you remember the story of David and Goliah?"

"Yes sir, David was a tavernkeeper and Goliah was an intemperate man."

"Who told you that?"

"Nobody, I read it, and it said that, David fixed a sling for Goliah, and Goliah got slued with it."

A correspondent in Paris writes that M de Lamartine is exceedingly ill. He holds no receptions, and never leaves his bed except to take a short drive in his carriage. A photograph taken of him, recently, represents an old man in whose features it is scarcely possible to detect any trace of M de Lamartine, familiar to every Parisian. He is now nearly eighty years old.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, 2 P M } Aug 2, 1867

We have no Eastern news since July 20th. Gold was then quoted in New York at 140½. On the 30th instant tenders were 72 lights, and 721/8, selling, at San Francisco 71 lines have been interrupted two or three days, so as to prevent the receipt of news.

The receipts of treasure from the interior are not nota large as the of last year, Wells Fargo & Co having made arrangements to carry bullion shipments by way of the Chickamin route; but the receipts from the Columbia river are very fair. The northern mines are still yielding liberally, while the old mines of California and Nevada have become entirely subordinate as local interests to those of agriculture. The San Francisco papers admit that the excess of bullion received at the mint for coinage comes this year from the northern mines. Money is not over plenty in circulation and yet there is not much embarrassment in finding enough for current use. Many of our most sagacious business men are contracting their operations and hedging against a crisis which they say must come before long. A continuation of the present dull times for a few months, will be disastrous to all those who have been dealing too much on credit. Matters go on tolerably well till heavy bills fall due. Then, unless collections in the interior go on better than they have of late there must be trouble. It will be the part of wisdom for all to make the best possible preparation for the harder times which are evidently coming.

The general jobbing business of the city for the last week has been a slight improvement upon the previous week. Flour is still in good demand at the former prices. The stock on hand is rather limited. We notice that the telegraphic reports from San Francisco quote Oregon at $4 75, while the market reports sent from San Francisco to the interior papers of California, put the average at $5, best brands going at $5 45@5 50. The San Francisco Market Review, issued by Knapp, Burtell & Co., of the 10th, says: "The supply of Oregon upon the market is liberal. The current rates for this description are, for extremes, $5 50@5 75 for superfine and extra brands, at the lowest price quality scarcely up to the standard of superfine, while the latter is the asking rate for Imperial Mills. We quote the average price for Oregon standard brands, $5@5 25 ₱ bbl, all in quarter sacks. * * * So far as reported the sales for the period under review are 12,000 qr sks Oregon—Imperial, Magnolia, Vaughn, McMinnville, etc.—within the above range."

There are few changes to note in the general range of the market. Cut nails are 10cts lower. Bacon—fair demand without material change. Hams—the market is also entirely bare and round prices are offered for good and extra. Coffee—most brands a little advanced. Sugars—still have a tendency upwards, we quote advanced rates. As usual of late, the best trade during the week has been in groceries.

The scarcity of hams has induced the offer of 15@18c for extra, for local consumption. We quote shoulders 9@10c, though we doubt if any but the choicest, in small lots, could be sold for those figures. Lard in tins is scarce and 11@12½c are offered. These figures are not offered for export and cannot be depended on longer than while the temporary scarcity shall exist.

Cotton Goods and Woolen Market.

PORTLAND, Aug 2, 1867.

It will be observed that the prices of leading woolen goods are reduced materially. This is necessary to work off over full stocks. We append the following extract from a circular issued by the agent of the Salem mills: "Aware that strong competition must result from the introduction of woolen fabrics of Eastern manufacture at low cost this company has reduced their prices to the lowest possible rates and invite your attention to the accompanying schedule, feeling confident that goods of their manufacture will bear favorable comparison in style, quality, finish and value with those of like grades produced elsewhere in the United States." The figures below are given in accordance with the "schedule" referred to:

OREGON WOOLEN GOODS.—Blankets, Oregon gray, No 1, $9 50; No 2, do $8 75; do white, No 1 extra, $8 50; No 1 $8 do; No 2 $7; No 3 $5 50; 8 4 White flannel, 51 106@$1 25; 4-4 White do 75c; 8 4 White do 87½@95c. Weekly Retail Family Market.

PORTLAND Aug. 2, 1867

Business continues quiet. Fruit's superabundant and so low as to scarcely pay for handling. Groceries are without particular change except sugars, all grades of which have advanced. Provisions are quiet. There is a movement in hams and a better tone to vegetables. Shorts are not wanted. Poultry is in better request. Game scarce and wanted. Vegetables are very low and prices obtained scarcely pay for raising.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. While it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is speedy and powerful in its effects upon the system. In all cases of Diarrhœa, Dysentery, and the prevailing fevers consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive of stomach disease, nor should any of those who are now engaged in the occupation, fail to have recourse to the Bitters.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Will procure Pensions for Officers of the Army and Navy, Soldiers Seamen and Marines, who have been disabled by wounds received, or who contracted a disease while in the line of duty; and if any of the above were killed in battle or have died from said causes the following are entitled to them in their order, viz: Widow, Children (under 16 years of age), Father and Mother and Sisters, if dependent upon their deceased son or brother for support, either in whole or in part.
The Pension Laws apply to all wars in which the United States have been engaged.
Unusual facilities are afforded me for the collection of these claims, having reliable and competent assistants at Washington, D C and New York, who have been in the business for the past fifteen years and give them their sole attention.
All communications asking advice or information should enclose postage or whenever of a character requiring it, should be accompanied with a reasonable fee.

To Soldiers Claiming Bounties

UNDER THE
EQUALIZATION BOUNTY BILL!

THE UNDERSIGNED, HAVING RECENTLY RETURNED from Washington City, where he has made the proper arrangements for the collections of the Extra Bounty of $100 allowed to all soldiers enlisted after the 19th day of April, 1861, for a period of not less than three years, and $50 for soldiers enlisted for a period of not less than two years.
Persons entitled to the benefits of said Bounty will find it to their interest to attend to its collection at once. Having an Agent at Washington, and personal knowledge of the mode of making collections through the Departments, I can get returns promptly.
☞ Call with your Discharge, and two witnesses for identification at the Publication Office of the Daily Oregonian, No 5 Washington St. Portland.
A BUSHWILLER, Claim Agent.

N. B.

Persons residing at a great distance can have their claims attended to by sending me their "Discharge," Post-office address and place of enlistment.
